

ISSA International

The Information Systems Security Association (ISSA) serves security and assurance professionals with over 135 chapters and members in 70 countries, ranging from the first-year systems administrator to your senior-most executive.

ISSA is a peer-to-peer network of 10,000 members who collaborate to combat the security threats of today and those that will face us tomorrow.

Together ISSA members mobilize collective expertise and resources to anticipate and prevent threats.

More than half of our members are CISSP certified and many hold additional certifications including the CISA, CISM and SSCP.

Through membership in ISSA, security and assurance specialists have access to affordable and intensive certification study courses in their own communities. These courses are designed by ISSA chapters and taught by members who are working professionals in the industry.

ISSA provides a common baseline of concepts, principles and applications that can be incorporated with the knowledge gained through formal training and on the job experience. Through membership with ISSA you can help set the standard for the future, by ensuring the security of our data systems, which are a critical component in the success of businesses in this global marketplace.
